

The Purpose of Cultivating Human Resources and Educational Research
In the Department of French Language and Literature, based on the fact that French is an international language spoken in regions other than its native country, we recognize the universal character of the culture, literature, and ideology behind the French language and respect the French spirit of disseminating the ideas of human rights and democracy throughout the world in the spirit of liberty, equality, and fraternity, while providing students with detailed individual guidance based on the curriculum. In the Graduate School First Semester Doctoral Program, we aim to train human resources with specialized knowledge that can respond to the demands of society in all its various aspects by providing education aimed at universal human development through the acquisition of French language and literature. In the Graduate School Second Semester Doctoral Program, we aim to nurture expert professionals and researchers useful to the international community who are capable of conducting more in-depth and original research in their respective domains of specialization.

Three Policies
Degree Conferment Policy (Diploma Policy)		Policies for Curriculum Formation and Execution (Curriculum Policy)	Policy for Accepting Students (Admission Policy)
<Graduate School First Semester Doctoral Program>
[Method of Choosing Admissions]		The French Language and Literature department in the Graduate School of Humanities, in order to achieve its diploma policy, formulates and executes its curriculum according to the following policies.	With the French Language and Literature deparrment in the Graduate School of Humanities’ policy for granting degrees (Diploma Policy) and for curriculum formation and execution (Curriculum Policy) in mind, we will admit domestic and overseas students, as well as other members of society, who show the following abilities and desires.
Knowledge / Understanding	[Objectives of Academic Achievement] - Having expertise in the French language and literature. (DP1) - Possessing expertise in the French language and literature. (DP2) [Achievement Indicators] - Being able to explain the specialized knowledge of the French language and literature. (DP1) - Being able to explain the specialized theories of the French language and literature. (DP2) - Passed the final examination. (DP1, DP2)	[Policies for Curriculum Formation] Courses in the French language and literature are organized according to their sub-disciplines or periodization. [Execution of the Curriculum (teaching methods, class format etc.)] The class format incorporates lectures, and active learning and ICT are utilized as the study methodology. [Grading Method for Academic Results] Evaluation will be based on written examinations or reports assigned in lectures. (DP1, DP2)	[Our Ideal Student] - We accept students who are willing to acquire and apply specialized knowledge in the French language and literature. - We accept students who are keenly interested in European culture at large, and who are willing to spare no effort to find original perspectives to solve international problems. - For students in the Special European Course in the Department of French in the Faculty of Humanities at Fukuoka University, we accept those who have achieved the grades based on the regulations concerning the early graduation system and who are willing to engage in highly specialized research related to European culture and the French language with a focus on French-speaking countries.
	Skill	[Objectives of Academic Achievement] - Being able to develop and discuss knowledge and theories of the French language and literature. (DP3) [Achievement Indicators] - Being able to clearly verbalize your own views. (DP3) - Being able to exchange critical and constructive ideas with those who have differing views. (DP3) - Passed the final examination. (DP3)
Attitude / Intention	[Objectives of Academic Achievement] - Having acquired a fundamental normative awareness regarding research ethics. (DP4) - Possessing a willingness to engage in research from a broad perspective, without being bound by established frameworks. (DP5) - Possessing a proactive attitude to actively work out your own views while accurately ascertaining prior research. (DP6) [Achievement Indicators] - Being able to demonstrate originality in a thesis and presentations based on research ethics. (DP4, DP5, DP6) - Passed the final examination. (DP4, DP5, DP6)	[Policies for Curriculum Formation] Lectures and exercises are conducted for students. [Execution of the Curriculum (teaching methods, class format etc.)] The class format incorporates lectures and exercises, and active learning and ICT are utilized as the study methodology. [Grading Method for Academic Results] Evaluation will be based on the written examinations or reports assigned in lectures and exercises. (DP4, DP5, DP6)	[Method of Choosing Admissions] After carefully examining the applicant's statement of purpose, the written examination will test the applicant's language ability, while the interview will determine the applicant's motivation and aptitude, and these are conducted strictly in accordance with the entrance examination requirements. For students in the European Special Course in the Department of French Studies in the Faculty of Humanities at Fukuoka University, the applicant's grades based on the regulations concerning the early graduation system, as well as their statement of purpose and research plan disclosed in the interview are strictly conducted in accordance with the entrance examination requirements.

<Graduate School Second Semester Doctoral Program>
The French Language and Literature department in the Graduate School of Humanities, with the aim of nurturing human resources, and furthering pedagogical research, awards this doctorate degree (in Literature) to the following persons recognized for their skills and ability.		The French Language and Literature department in the Graduate School of Humanities, in order to achieve its diploma policy, formulates and executes its curriculum according to the following policies.	With the French Language and Literature department in the Graduate School of Humanities’ policy for granting degrees (Diploma Policy) and for curriculum formation and execution (Curriculum Policy) in mind, we will admit domestic and overseas students, as well as other members of society, who show the following abilities and desires.
Knowledge / Understanding	[Objectives of Academic Achievement] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Being able to acquire and utilize a more specialized knowledge of French language and literature based on a deep cultural appreciation of European culture. (DP1) - Being able to understand the more specialized theories of French language and literature as well as the ability to accurately read and comprehend major studies written in French. (DP2) [Achievement Indicators] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Being able to give an account of the more specialized knowledge of the French language and literature while possessing in-depth knowledge of prior research in your field. (DP1) - Being able to give an account of the more specialized theories of the French language and literature as well as the state of research in the domain of specialization. (DP2) - Presented the doctoral thesis, and passed. (DP1, DP2) 	[Policies for Curriculum Formation] Courses in the French language and literature are organized according to their sub-disciplines or periodization. [Execution of the Curriculum (teaching methods, class format etc.)] The class format incorporates lectures, and active learning and ICT are utilized as the study methodology. [Grading Method for Academic Results] Evaluation will be based on written examinations or reports assigned in lectures and special research. (DP1, DP2)	[Our Ideal Student] The Department of French Language and Literature seeks students who possess advanced knowledge in their field, who are willing to further refine the skills they have developed in the Graduate School First Semester Doctoral Program, who will present the results of their accumulated research in international forums, and who have the spirit of ambition and inquiry in order to make every effort in conducting original research. [Method of Choosing Admissions] Screening is conducted strictly in accordance with the entrance examination requirements, based on the applicant's in-depth specialized knowledge of the French language and literature, and their ability to identify and solve problems by means of a statement of purpose, a written examination, a careful examination of the research plan, and an oral examination.
Skill	[Objectives of Academic Achievement] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Being able to develop and discuss the more specialized knowledge and theories of the French language and literature. (DP3) [Achievement Indicators] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Being able to verbalize your own views clearly and make a persuasive argument in a thesis. (DP3) - Being able to exchange critical and constructive opinions with those who have differing views and find original arguments from multifaceted perspectives. (DP3) - Presented the doctoral thesis, and passed. (DP3) 	[Policies for Curriculum Formation] "Special Research" in the French language and literature is conducted for students. [Execution of the Curriculum (teaching methods, class format etc.)] The class format incorporates exercises, and active learning and ICT are utilized as the study methodology. [Grading Method for Academic Results] Evaluation will be based on written examinations or reports assigned in lectures and special research. (DP3)
Attitude / Intention	[Objectives of Academic Achievement] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Acquiring normative consciousness regarding research ethics. (DP4) - Possessing the willingness to develop your own views while accurately ascertaining prior research. (DP5) - Possessing the willingness to engage in interdisciplinary research from multiple perspectives, without being bound by established frameworks. (DP6) [Achievement Indicators] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Being able to demonstrate originality in a thesis and presentations based on research ethics. (DP4, DP5) - Being able to organize a study group and adopt a leadership role within it. (DP6) - Presented the doctoral thesis, and passed. (DP4, DP5, DP6) 	[Policies for Curriculum Formation] "Special Research" in the French language and literature is conducted for students. [Execution of the Curriculum (teaching methods, class format etc.)] The class format incorporates special research, and active learning and ICT are utilized as the study methodology. [Grading Method for Academic Results] Evaluation will be based on written examinations or reports assigned in lectures and special research, as well as a doctoral thesis. (DP4, DP5)	